

Leo Big D Farms, Cochise

Leo is our oldest farmer, and is one of our resident experts on growing the best tomatoes, okra, melons, asparagus, raspberries, and corn--the list goes on! Yes, Leo is 82 and still going strong... he must be doing something right! I bet it's the vegetables, fresh air and good hard work. Because Leo's farm is located in Cochise County he experiences cold winters, so when the ground goes cold, Leo stays home. However, when the temperatures start to climb and the asparagus tips peek their heads up out of the ground, you can find Leo selling his amazing produce at the market. April through November you can find Leo and his vegetables at the Sunday market at St. Philip's Plaza. And when he has surplus produce, he'll bring his additional bounty to the Oro Valley Farmers' Market on Saturday. If you are missing a great tasting tomato, Leo certainly has the best: samples are free and we guarantee you'll love'em.
